

MP100 phono preamplifier

- The MP100 is the first dedicated phono preamplifier from McIntosh. Designed to help both new and experienced vinyl lovers get the most fidelity, performance and – most importantly – enjoyment from their albums.
- A great choice for someone new to vinyl, for someone with an older home audio system wanting to add modern phono capabilities or for someone looking to add phono playback to a home theater system.
- Packed with features designed specifically for the vinyl lover including: adjustable loading Moving Coil and Moving Magnet inputs (6 settings each); balanced and unbalanced analog outputs; and a Mono switch for when playing mono records.
- Also includes optical, coax and USB digital outputs. The MP100 can “rip” the records to a computer via USB to produce high quality digital files.
- Same width as the MXA70 Integrated Audio System and MB50 Streaming Audio Player. Combine them all to build a complete system.

For Both New and Experienced Vinyl Lovers
